What have we learnt by working together during the last 12 months that might shape future priorities?

- The detrimental impact of the pandemic on the residents we work with and the behaviour changes as a result of this.
- Face-to-face meetings are not essential. A mixed way of working can benefit everything. From ways of working to delivery.
- We need to create shared long term goals to address our shared priorities (collaboration is key).
- Physical activity is as important for the mind than it is the body.
- Health and Wellbeing programmes are high on the agenda within a range of sectors.
- We can develop further opportunities for shared working.
- Develop training and education opportunities.
- The need to be flexible and responsive to changing demands.
- Importance of access to open space and facilities.

What do you value most about working with Active Together?

Describe what needs collective improvement in how we work together moving forward?

- A greater understanding of staffs roles within Active Together, so we can ensure we are talking to the right personnel for support
- A clearer sense of what practical, successful delivery looks like and how we would measure it.
- Shared practice is improving all the time however we need to be able to get back to method adopted pre covid.
- Better working with our District Alliances.
- Further focus on Place.
- Continue in the spirit of continual learning and remain honest to each other.
- Need to ensure that we reach out to new partners.
- Networking opportunities.
- A better alignment of purpose to support more than just movement and physical activity and to consider sport as part of core business again.
- More frequent communication.
- Joined up comms from Active Together- it can get confusing keeping up with comms from lots of different officers.
